On one of the hottest corners of Woodward avenue, Detroit, at high noen, a small boy, with a boot black's kit, sat under the full blaze of a sun pouring down for all it was worth. The boy perspired, roasted, blistered and al-most melted, but he had stuck therefor half an hour when a lady passing by halted and said:

"Little boy, aren't you afraid of being

"Yes, ma'am," was the prompt reply.
"Then why don't you get into the

She looked to see if he was tied, and was about to go on and regard him as the son of a brutal father in a saloon around the corner, when the lad ex-

"There he is now! That boy up there is the chap I was waiting for, and I had to sit out here to see him when he turned the corner. He's the feller that called my sister a poke-eyed rabbit, and I'm going to jump in on him and lick him most to death; I wish you'd hold my box so I can get the bulge on him before he suspects anything."

Sensible Advice to Girls.

When girls midway in their teens throw off their natural girlish habits and attire, don long skirts, bind up their hair, and affect the air and dress of young women, they would often be surprised to know what their elders really think of the improvement. One such young miss went to the the depot recently to meet an aged friend of the family, and was surprised to find herself not recognized upon greeting the visitor as she stepped from the car.

"Don't you know me, auntie?" "Why, this isn't Maria, is it?" "Certainly; don't you think I look better than I did last summer when you was here?" "No," replied the honest soul, looking the girl over, "to tell the truth I do Go home and let down your hair and be young while you can, for it will not be many years before you'll be glad to have people take you for a girl."_

Advice to Bashful Young Men.

Say "good morning" or "good evening" to the hostess on leaving the "So long, old girl," has gone out in the best society. If there are seventy five or one hundred persons in the company, it is not necessary for you to shake hands all round. Do not be in haste to go down to dinner without waiting for a tardy guest, give him at least thirty minutes. You may have to get down on your hands and knees and crawl around and feel for a lost collarbutton yourself some time. Upon introduction to a young lady immediately ask her age and the size of her shoe; this will put you on an easy conversaany one who waits on you at the table. chair and drum idly on your head with your fork is condemned in good society. Every one remembers the old tomb stone lament: "I was well, wished to be better, took physic and here I am."

Under republican rule, the country ıs enjoying perfect health. Although the smoke of battle still lingers upon the horizon, every branch of trade and industry is in a prosperous condition. Labor is in brisk demand and is satisfactorily rewarded. Manufactures are flourishing. Our commercial and agricultural interests are reaping golden harvests. The credit of the country never stood so high. The national debt is fast disappearing. Our currency is at par throughout the world, and our people are prosperous and happy. Every beat of the public pulse indicates sound health, and no satisfactory reason can be given why the party and policy by whose agency these results have been achieved should be displaced or superceded.

· To make a change now would be the suprement folly, for by no change could the condition of the country be improved through the agency of a party which has arrayed itself against every one of the measures by whose beneficent operation this lusty health has come to

If, in the opinion of some, the body politic is still slightly out of sorts, even thên it is better to "bear the illa we have than fly to others that we know not of." For who can tell what results would follow a restoration to power of a party which plunged the nation into civil war and has antagonized every measure shown to be needful to neal its bleeding wounds? The people will be slow to take the risk of such a change, and will rather prefer that the country shall continue to be governed by those whose wise administration has given to it its unparalleled prosperity.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., July 20 .- Carl churz, Secretary of the Interior, adressed an immense assemblage at the wigwam to night. His speech was a masterly review of the political issues of the day, combined with a chain of reasoning why Garfield, as a statesman, should receive the support of the true American citizen instead of Hancock, the soldier, devoid of practical experience and knowledge as a statesman, and only familiar with routine [military

Secretary Schurz' speech clesed as

The Democracy may, in course of time, gain the confidence of the people, but that should be when repudiationists and advocates of unsound money have ceased to be in its ranks so powerful and influential an element as to seriously threaten the great economical interests of the country; when by energetic and suc-cessful action in protecting the rights of the voter, whether white or black, wheth er Republican or Democratic, in all parts of the country, and by suppression of fraud at the ballot-box through a healthy and irresistible power of public opinion within itself, it will have the right to appear in its platforms as the protector of freedom and the purity of elections, and then it will find it no longer necessary to discard the ablest of its statesmen and put a General of the army, who has never been anything but a soldier, in nomina-tion for the Presidency to make for itself a certificate of loyalty to the settlement of the great conflict of the past. And for all these reasons, in my opinion, the in erests of the Republic demand the election of James A. Garfield to the Presidency of the United States.

NEW YORK, July 20 .- At noon to day Dr. Tanner began the twenty-third day of his fast. By comparison with his round, well-fed appearance before the task began. Dr. Tanner looks thin, but he is far from emaciated. He weighed to day, on his return from a drive, 135 pounds, which, considering that he is not a tall man, is good weight, although he has lost 22½ pounds since the 28th of last month. It is only when the Doctor opens his eyes after a nap that the signs of the fast he has endured become strikingly apparent. They are unmistakably the eyes of a man who has suffered either a severe mental or physical strain. They are lusterless and sunken. Some days ago we made mention of the fact that at Maron, on July 3d, Daniel Craig, a police magistrate of that place. got on a bender and became so noisy that Marshal O'Banion arrested Daniel and threw him-not into the llon's den-but in the town cooler, from which close quarters he was released inside of 30 minutes. Daniel was the only drunken man arrested in Maroa on the 3d, and the people marvoled greatly. But the town beard met instanter, and so great was the feeling against O Banion for doing what he deemed to be the correct thing, that that august body officially and peremptorily removed the "officious" policeman -in other words, "ent off his head," and appointed another man in his place. Consequently the feeling of the Marozites is somewhat divided over this interesting affair—temperance people being in sympathy with he unlucky officer, and the license advocates applauding the action of the town board.

The old Chicago and Paducah track, now owned and to be operated by the Wabash from Bement to Chicago, is said to be in an excellent condition-solid as a rock-and some (fast time may be expected. One of the most striking and rare curiosities unearthed in any state or town by the census takers, so far as heard from, was that which was brought to light and jotted down in black and white by Enumerator Captain Usrey on his rounds in the second ward of this city. He called at the residence of Mr. Stanley March, on North Church street, unfolded his book and commenced asking questions. Be fore leaving he had learned that in the year 1879 Mrs. March had given birth to twins, but they were born dead; and also the additional fact, which is corrobora ted by the records, that Mrs. March, before the close of that year had also given birth to triplets, which interesting and widely published episode was noted in these columns at the time. The triplets lived about 30 minutes, and all three died. We understand that Mrs. March, who is a stoutly made woman of medium height, young people assembled at the residence is in excellent health to-day, and is attending to her household duties as usual.

But his mother said: "No, my darling we should like to speak of each member of the family, but can only say that each one did admirably well. It was a gem of an entertainment. For purity and sweet-ness of tone their voices are unexcelled. BARNUM COMING.

Mr. Frank M. Keish, the advance agent fo P. T. Barnum's greatest show on earth, paid us a visit yesterday. He was here for the purpose of completing arrangements for the exhibition of the vast show, which will positively be here on THURSDAY, THE 8TH DAY OF SEPTEMBER, afternoon and evening.
His preliminary printing will be on the walls;
the license has been granted and so our amusement lovers - when Barnum comesthat means the entire community-may "posis the aim of all, and their duty as well sess their souls in patience," and wait for "Barnum Day," to see what is really and truly "the greatest show on earth." Many new fea tures never before exhibited, have been added for the present season in all the various departments, Museum, Menagerie, school of automatic mechanism and circus, Barnum has also added seven foreign trained horses to his celebrated group of twenty imported stalilons. We are assured that Barnum this year has eclipsed all his former efforts, and placed his show heyond all competition or rivairy and we may believe what Barnum says, for he never advertises anything which he does not exhibit and never disappoints the public or fails to fulfill all his promises; so we may safely anticipate seeing more people in town on Barman Day than have ever been seen be-

[July7dtd] A Perglan-Lady.,

From Timley's Magazine.

I will here give a description of my hostess and her dress. She wore a bright red satin skirt, richly ornamented with gold lace. It was very full and short, barely reaching to her knees. A loose jacket of blue velvet, also much trimmed—this time with silver lace. The sleeves were made of cashmere shawl, buttoned by some twenty small buttons. She wore several small necklaces, most of them very massive, studded with fine turquoises. On her head she wore a white shawl, with a band of jewels around her forehead, and at one side a large pearl star. She had on both arms at least a dozen braceletssome handsome ones, some only bands of colored glass. Her feet were covered with coarse white socks, her shoes, green leather with scarlet heels Some of the ladies were bright red trousers, reaching to the ankle, but this was quite the exception. They wear a long veil, reaching from head to foot, generally made of some smart print or muslin. I ought to mention that every lady word a small leather case round her neck, containing some earth from Mecca and verses from the Koran The faces of my hostess and friends were much decorated, the eyebrows broadened and carried quite across the nose. Some had small designs tattooed on their cheeks. The hair is very long and thick, gener ally dyed red, it is worn plaited in many thin tails, twisted with gold thread The hands are well shaped, but nails and palms are stained a dark red.
